phadraig son of nihil of the ua dinan held silent his white hound on the hill of cromm cru and looked down the far valley of blue mists where the sea of the west rolled in back beyond the sweet smelling reaches of the heather he could hear the bay of the hounds of his uncle kieran tiern over north tormond he could no longer hear the clink of their silver bridles nor the laughter of their ladies nor the scream of hawk on dove but the hill of the ancient god was a sweet place in the silence and he rested there and made him a pillow of fern and listened to the soft breath of the wind in the rowan tree its sigh of love for the green earth was a sweet song and he slept there to that music while the sun rushed beyond the wide seas of the west and soft footed dusk crept after filling all the hollows with the gray web in which the night is held a curious dream of white birds came to him there the dream had come to him before yet not with clearness and in the dream was a dusk path in an ancient wood and a well there a well rising and sinking with the tide and a vision of a maid moving before him into the shadows a vision swathed in a white cloud with hidden face but a voice in which was held all the music of beauty of life in all the world his soul was as a harp on which that music played and his body was but as a shell left behind while the wings of harmony lifted him lifted until he was borne as a cloud far from the touch of the earth and he heard a word over and over in his ear until he strove with might to echo it and then in the striving the smell of the heather was again in his nostrils and the forefeet of the white hound were on his breast and above him a star shone in the soft rose of the sky he lay entranced thrilled by the ecstasy of the perfect dream and somewhere from the very earth came a song to his ear and an earth echo of the word he had striven for and missed and this was the song he heard make strong your charms against danaan danaan of the snowy breast who lured the souls of the gods of old to the land of the mystic west the voices were those of two boys and with them was an old shepherd who bore fire in a strange bowl of thin carven stone and in the arms of the boys were dry heather and branches of yew and in fear they let fall the yew at sight of phadraig and at sight of his white hound beside him peace to you spake phadraig and who be you to sing here a song of charms and who is danaan a blessing of all saints on you from jerusalem to innis gluaire spake the ancient who bore the fire we bear here boughs for the purging fires of beltain and the mothers of these boys bade them make a prayer and sing the song ere they crossed the three magic circles of the tor of cromm cru and is this that hill asked phadraig as a childling they tell me i was nursed in sight of it but never before have i stood on it and who made the song of the charm one of the anointed of the saints who loved every plain and black crag and forest dell between us and the sea it was no other than nihil of the deep wood strange that is said phadraig the son of nihil other songs of that singer i have been taught but never this one until i hear it as in a dream in this strange place and look there are white sea birds against the stars and they also were of the dream on the night of beltain strange power is abroad and strange dreams and what is the name of you who venture to sleep on the hill of the ancient gods in the dusk of this day and when phadraig told him the old herdsman would have knelt but phadraig took his hand and spoke to him in kindness yet could get from him no other word as to the song of danaan go to roiseen of the glen the wise woman down by the sea he said she was nurse to you and knows all your father nihil would have had you know of the names of the ancient gods of the land but danaan was the name of a people the old old people soul brothers to the fairies ay it may be and may not a people have a spirit as has a person have we not our own this day in erinn our mother of the land ask me no more o lord of the uadinan but go you down to roiseen of the glen and peace go with you and with his white hound at his heels and one of the shepherd boys as guide phadraig took trail to the sea glen and would have gone through a deep wood in the valley but the boy drew back not there my lord said he yet it is the shorter way no way is shorter if you never come out alive o lord of the uadinan what abides within the wood no living thing my lord but the water in the druid's well and it pulses there as if it might be the heartbeat of the ocean beyond yet the water is not salt this is a land of strange riddles i am coming back to this day said phadraig but do you not hear music in the wood or is it the wind through the new buds the priest tells us it is the winds or the waves or the night birds in their shelter and that is the thing we must say said the boy and neither of them spoke of the white birds above them against the sky to phadraig it was as if he had walked into a new life from the hour he slept on the western hill of cromm cru and all the path of it held music to make the heart glad of life yet sad with inarticulate yearnings the life of the halls of kieran was left behind and he trod the heath as an exile returned in the cot of roiseen of the glen there was a rabbit stewing on the hearth and roiseen herself spinning the silver flax at the open door in the starlight oh is it yourself come back on your own feet to greet me this day she said and wept with very gladness and kissed the young hand of him but he kissed her brown cheek instead and they talked long after the shepherd boy was asleep in the forest leaves in the byre but it was not that night of beltain that phadraig asked of the unknown things for he had noted the salt sprinkled on the threshold to bar out influences of the old gods so that night they talked of nihil dead ere he had seen his son and kreda his wife dead at the birthing and all the grandeurs of the house of the ua dinan where phadraig had lived his life of training for the work of a chief yet out of it all he had come back with the heart of a boy and sat on a three legged stool at the door of roiseen and fashioned a flute of alder wood and piped on it in the sunshine of the morning then when the milk was put away and roiseen settled with the distaff and the whirling strands he spoke the name singing in his heart mother roiseen it is to you i am coming with a thing to ask who is danaan of the birds of white that you should ask it and you with the name of a saint on you get you to your hawking or hunting the deer and see that you pluck primroses to scatter at your door this night that the ancient people send you no call of danaan the men who follow the call wander far to the land of the mystic west do they wander ay that they do far over the green meadows of the waters where the horses of lir have their pastures from the cliff below you can see them running in races endlessly to the shore i see the waves run in said phadraig but she was not to be fooled ay and more than the waves to you as to your father but you are idling in thought phadraig son of nihil what other task when there is peace in tormond and the ua dinan as you mayhaps have heard cannot abide the sight of me near his ailing son and kethlen his wife bitter as gall because she has borne a weakling true that is you stand in their eyes as a threat at the crowns they wear to me a pipe on the hills instead and the songs of my father to sing roiseen why has the song of danaan never been given me that name has been through the ages a hated word to the women of your house and in each generation they try to smother it out and why is that it gave a youth the seeking eye and the wandering foot and it was said to keep young the heart of a man when all his mates went tottering under the sod no the women could not abide the thought of that and they smother it out ay that is the way with the woman heart mother roiseen there is a deer for you in the forest shall snard and i bring it in tomorrow s morn and the white hound hearing his name spoken flailed the floor with his tail and rose up and waited to what would you bribe me phadraig my heart to peace and content while i tell you i heard the song of danaan on the hill of cromm cru in the dusk of beltain and i felt the music that all the songs of nihil my father could not give voice to and in my dream i looked in that druid well of the wood and saw the heart of the ocean beat there under the stars all this came to me by chance in the place of fire to beltain so mine is the right to ask what i ask and roiseen the wise woman looked on him and made the sign and plucked primroses for her door yours is the right she said come you away from the house and out under the hawthorn tree and what i can say with no hurt to the saints and their faith that i will it is said that while many a family trace in pride their fathers to the ancient barbarians few trace their descent from yon wise ones who took themselves into the air with their own enchantment sooner than be conquered this i heard when i was a girl in the home of the king your father s father but nihil of the songs learned much from a master of tricks an aged man who said he had lived on the earth in other days when the sea covered all this valley and that this was the last edge of the land where the danaan lived on the earth as people and ate the honey of bees and drank the water of the druid well in the wood beyond ay said phadraig and he looked over the green velvet of the valley running down to meet the white foam of the sea white as the hawthorn bloom above them and from the dark hills he looked to the islands beyond and it was all a sweet picture of summer under the blue sky ay mother roiseen of all places in the whole world where would they find another spot so fair in truth i believe your word that it is the last corner of the land they could let go to the hard people of the iron pikes so it was the last place they let go of and they lingered long after the stranger people swept over the land to the east and to your father nihil came a sending of sight through fasting and enchantments of music until he spoke aloud the word no other dared ever to speak for them and what was that word mother of the glen it was of a bond of birth and blood between the ua dinan and the tuathe de danaan but the legend of it is against all christian teachings and we are christian now in erinn phadraig looked up to the mount of the druid god where fires of propitiation had burned but a night ago ay so we say he agreed but tell me more of nihil and his song of danaan he all but had the ban of the bishop of clare put on him and it was backed by some of his own blood whose names i will not speak for it is evil to speak against the dead they were mortal shamed to be thought of the blood or the spirit of enchanters the while nihil was so proud of it that church itself was called to the question that was a time of trial for there was your mother the lady kreda of kilfernora not yet either wife or mother but loving him and holding him to church and there was the bishop with his power to bless or ban and there was nihil stout in rebellion against all but the sweet lady kreda for his word was this that if all the mothers for a thousand years could not stamp out the call of danaan in the heart of a man was it not proof that it was a bond of the spirit and was for good and not for evil and then he was banished to a forest cell for a year and a day for expiation and that was the time the lady kreda chose to ride beside him and do penance beside him and at the last to pleasure her he made the song of warning against danaan and he went into the forest away from the sea but he was never the same man after a true singer sings only the songs in his heart and that was the song made at the word of another for he nihil had walked the druid path to the well over back of beyond and the white sea birds of danaan had come to him there and he heard music of sweetness in the closed hills where the ancient people are waiting to this day and holding secret the sacred things shut in for the people of the future who will see as your father nihil saw that was his word of it many a day as he walked above yon cliff or up to the hill of cromm cru and the priests beyond could do naught with him though your mother hated the thoughts he spoke as did all the women of your race of the ua dinan mayhaps they were but jealous of a knowledge not for them mayhaps for true it is the lady kreda loved well his songs when he was wooing under her window there in kilfernora but turned away her head when the songs were of things not of her ken i have had few years yet i have lived to see that with other lives said phadraig what power may a man gain for the world if he only sing songs of love to a mistress who only smiles from a window you are older than your years phadraig my heart else it would not be myself sitting here under the hawthorn telling you the ancient things that the priests tell us are false things i do not think in my heart they are false said phadraig son of nihil into the forest i am going now for your deer mother of the glen and then till the next day of samhain i will live in the open to give proof to my own heart that nihil my father saw true and spoke true and thus did he though his kinsmen raged and their women told the priests and the ua dinan tore down the stone of cromm cru from the mount and broke it into pieces with iron chisels for it is well known that spirits of the tuathe de danaan hate the touch of the iron brought into the land by the barbarians but phadraig with his pipe of alder was somewhere in the deep wood with only the white hound and his dreams and his calls to the tamed sea birds on the cliffs and never a sight could kindred get of him unless it was in a boat dancing on the far waves toward inis mor or high on the hill where the forest veiled him if any tried to follow and a wail went up from the shepherds that year for the murrain got the sheep despite of all and some wells went dry and the herders gave sullen looks to the virtuous lords and ladies who had done that pious work in tearing down cromm cru of the tor and one day there came to roiseen of the glen a lady riding on a white horse with golden trapping her eyes were dark with desire and her braided hair had the gold of the sun glinting its brown shadows with her came a priest of the south

whose looks were down and ill i am yva of kilfernora said the maid with a blush sweeping her face have you o woman speech with phadraig of the wilds that was the place his mother came from said roiseen of the glen and i have seen no sign of him this seven days barring the white sea birds hovering over the forest of the druid well woman said the priest what would drive sea birds to the forest on days like this ay it is a big question your holiness and a thousand years have not given us the answer do you mean the blasphemy of enchantment too strong for church to conquer i would not dare your holiness mayhaps it is that the church has not striven sea birds are a small thing to take note of after all o woman said yva the brown eyed will you tell him i have ridden the horse he loved to these wilds he loves that he may know my message is a true message and that i watch from my window ever to these hills of the north that he may find the way to that window o lady ay that he may find the way the ua dinan and the head of my clan have clasped hands and emptied bowls of mead on the pact and i bring my own message to his hills how great is your patience yva of kilfernora asked old roiseen of the glen and the priest frowned at the forwardness of the peasant but yva of the dark tresses leaned forward in the saddle what mean you she asked her lips red and parted over white teeth would you take him as nihil his father was taken with his quest not finished nor his heart content nihil the singer died said yva her eyes staring ay he died with love beside him earthly love keeping step yet not understanding he died would you fain have phadraig son of nihil dead by your side or alive and free to choose after he has made the circle that was broken for nihil woman are you taking on yourself the weighing of a soul demanded the priest in anger what blasphemy is this of lives in circles and like enchantments is it evil craft of druid witcheries by which the young lord of the ua dinan is held here in the wilds i have not dared to ask him that myself said roiseen of the glen but i am an old woman and i know the men of the ua dinan and their women too by bell and book and candle their women have driven out or smothered a wild something in the blood of the ua dinan of the west land until the clan is weak this day because of it they have not dared dream their own dreams lest they range beyond the church rules and the women they wive and what man does any great thing without the dream or woman either o lady of kilfernora you are beautiful as the wild rose on the heath and there are many chiefs to break a lance at your nod better to give your glove to any one of them than enchain an ua dinan before he has followed the dream till it makes the circle
